Your signatures below indicate your child's full commitment, as well as your own, to this production. This means your child will be required to be on site, ready to participate at start of class, not simply arriving at that time. Attendance is required at all scheduled classes unless due to emergency or sickness and class instructor and/or coordinator must be contacted regarding absence as soon as possible and prior to class starting.

Participation in class activities is mandatory (for performance classes, this means memorizing lines, songs and/or choreography and performing in the final show/showcase at dates indicated).

Limited scholarships are available for each production so acceptance of scholarship aid is a commitment and requires responsibility and respect shown to the venue, production, teachers, crew and fellow cast members.

If your child withdraws from a production once classes begin, or if for any reason you do not fulfill the commitment made to the theatre after receiving a scholarship, you may be required to reimburse the tuition in full.

Bullying behavior is not tolerated at Centre Square and may result in your child being dismissed from this and potential future productions.
